CIPS professional qualifications

The smart choice for your professional career in procurement and supply
Your pathway to success

Why take a CIPS qualification?

By studying for and achieving CIPS internationally recognised procurement and supply qualifications you can achieve MCIPS chartered professional status.

This will enable you to:

• Achieve certified essential knowledge and understanding necessary to practice strategic procurement and supply chain management.
• Become more valued by your employer, with a greater ability to manage spend and risk.
• Gain globally recognised qualifications.

“Throughout the world CIPS qualifications are recognised as driving leading-edge thinking and professionalism in procurement. CIPS is the only independently regulated professional body with an honours degree level qualification. MCIPS chartered professional is recognised worldwide as the standard for procurement professionals.”

Amanda O’Brien, FCMI, FIoD, Group Professional Development Director, CIPS

Getting started

What are the entry requirements to CIPS Qualifications?

You can start at any one of our three entry level qualifications:

- Level 2 Certificate in Procurement and Supply Operations
- Level 3 Advanced Certificate in Procurement and Supply Operations
- Level 4 Diploma in Procurement and Supply

The level you start at will depend on your experience and job role.

There are no entry requirements for the Certificate and Advanced Certificate in Procurement and Supply Operations.

To enter at the Diploma qualification you will need to provide evidence of:
- At least two A levels or equivalent, or;
- At least two years’ experience in a relevant business environment.

Flexible learning journeys

Introducing flexible learning journeys through CIPS qualifications

A career in procurement and supply never stands still, and we are committed to supporting professionals throughout their entire career journey. With our specialist and generic elective modules at the Advanced and Professional Diploma qualifications, you can choose to specialise.
Where can I study?
CIPS has a global network of over 190 approved study centres. See our page 19 for advice about selecting the right approved study centre for you.

190 study centres around the world. Find the centre that is right for you at www.cips.org/findastudycentre

What type of study support can I expect to receive?
Each Study Centre will take a different approach. See our page 19 for advice about selecting the right approved study centre for you. Take a look at the list of approved centres in your area to find out more. You can also self-study, so it's really important to consider how much support you need before making your decision. See page 19 for more guidance.

How much will a CIPS qualification cost?
This varies depending on the level of support that your chosen programme provides. Contact your chosen CIPS Study Centre to find out the full cost of the different study programmes that are available.

You'll find costs for CIPS exams at www.cips.org/assessments and information about CIPS learning resources at www.cips.org

In most cases CIPS Study Centres include the cost of exams and learning resources within their tuition fees – they will be able to confirm this for you.

How long will the qualification take?
This depends on the qualification, and your availability and method of study. Speak to one of CIPS Study Centres to get advice on the type of programme that will suit you and your style of learning.

Joining a programme?
Joining a CIPS qualifications programme means becoming part of the largest professional body in the world for those working in procurement and supply.

Join as a student member. You can contact any CIPS Study Centre and talk to them about their study programmes.

Please note, to take any CIPS examinations or assessment your membership must be current. As a studying member you will also enjoy many other benefits and resources to support your learning.

Upgrade to chartered professional

Upgrade to MCIPS Chartered Procurement and Supply Professional

On successful completion of the CIPS Level 6 Professional Diploma in Procurement and Supply and three years’ relevant experience and an up-to-date CIPS Ethics certificate, students can apply to upgrade to MCIPS chartered professional. Gain recognition for your commitment to your career by signifying your professionalism and proficiency in procurement and supply.

How to upgrade

You will need to apply for your upgrade. This recognises your formal qualification, together with your work experience. Please make sure your CIPS Ethics Certificate is up to date.

How to maintain chartered Status throughout your career

At each membership renewal year you will be asked to certify that you have completed 30 hours Continuing Professional Development (CPD) and have a current CIPS Ethics Certificate.

CIPS Awarding Body

Our commitment to you

CIPS awarding body and our qualifications are regulated internationally to ensure we offer a recognised, professional standard in procurement and supply. Formal recognition is included within the regulatory frameworks of an increasing number of countries such as the UK (England, Wales and Northern Ireland), UAE (including Dubai) and Africa (including Zambia). Further information on this recognition and the details of corresponding qualifications levels for other international qualifications frameworks are detailed on our website. CIPS members can have the confidence in our regulated qualifications, which reliably indicate the standard of knowledge, skills and understanding that you, as a learner, are required to demonstrate.

You can expect:

• Professionally delivered training by 190 approved study centres worldwide. We conduct annual checks and award an approval status to each, ensuring they meet our regulatory requirements and provide high teaching standards for CIPS learners
• A choice of learning methods such as face to face, distance learning, e-learning or a blend of all these
• A choice of topics and business disciplines to reflect the expanding nature of the profession
• Assessment opportunities throughout the year using the latest thinking and practice in terms of assessment
• Formal, recognised certification of your achievements to use as a tool for progression in your career and more broadly within the profession.

Your professional journey in procurement and supply

Your next step

Your journey through CIPS qualifications can take you to MCIPS Chartered Procurement and Supply Professional. Your next step is the CIPS Level 7 Executive Diploma in Procurement and Supply. A chartered professional with the Executive Diploma (ExDip) is likely to be in a procurement leadership role. They will have board level influence and deliver innovative sourcing solutions across a diverse range of markets. ExDip offers a higher professional standard than MCIPS Chartered Professional, this is defined by the competencies of the Advanced Professional level of the Global Standard. Those with ExDip will have demonstrated excellence through a programme of learning or through experience to postgraduate degree level.
How to get the right learning support for you

Before starting or continuing you should consider the different study options on offer

Our commitment to you

With a CIPS approved study centre you will approach each topic in a timely structured way and you can be sure that you will cover the whole syllabus. Being in a classroom, you can ask about complex concepts or models and share the feedback with peers, whilst distance learners can usually check in with a tutor or networking group to gain the additional support.

As a self-study student you have the option to study when you want to and choose your own learning resources. The downside could be not completing the whole syllabus, not having the opportunity to test your learning and not having the knowledge of a tutor or a networking group to check your understanding.

However you choose to learn there is additional learning support and knowledge guidance available for all CIPS members.

Don't delay starting your journey to MCIPS chartered professional; find a study centre that can help you to achieve your career goals.

Study Centre options

Look for the following logos which help you to identify the CIPS approval status. These will tell you that the centre has reached our high standards for delivering our qualifications.

Questions to consider when choosing a Study Centre

- What is the exam pass success rate?
- What are the study format options?
- How long is the course?
- What are the tuition fees and what learning support materials are included?
- Will there be exam revision support?
- How accessible are the tutors?
- When can you enrol?
- Do they hold any open days where you can talk to the tutor or current students?
- What level of CIPS approval status do they hold?
- Do they provide an exam centre too which may be more convenient that a CIPS regional exam centre?
