Applied Learning Programme

Develop your organisation’s procurement and supply expertise and function.

Work-based training
Delivered via CIPS Learning online via virtual classrooms. Fully supported by CIPS Experts, this enables your team to undertake their professional development in the way that suits them best, anytime and from anywhere.

Study programmes consist of multiple modules, with an interactive workshop for each, followed by assignments based on live activities encountered by staff in their day-to-day jobs. Every programme is supported by a wide range of additional resources including interactive forums, webinars, podcasts, e-learning and white papers, for greater learning.

Supporting every journey
Three levels of achievement, including full MCIPS membership make up this programme, selected based on the most appropriate level of learning. Our programme management team works with you to support individuals to stay on track with their learning, reporting on progress. This achieves the best outcome for themselves and the best ROI for your organisation.
